New Lenox Lions Cheer Needy Folk

In a wonderful display of neighborliness and generosity, the people of New Lenox contributed money, food, toys and clothing to help the New Lenox Lions club make their Christmas basket program a success, according to Ronald Vondrasek, club president.

"The club members distributing these baskets," Mr. Vondrasek said, "agreed that the recipients were all very appreciative and it was a most touching experience to see the children's faces light up when the Christmas trees and toys were brought into their homes. It was common to see tears come to the eyes of the parents, and the wish of older people that 'God bless everyone making the baskets possible' was unanimous."

"To sum it up, the people of New Lenox should be very proud that they have helped to make Christmas a happy one, for everyone known in the area who might not otherwise have one."

Jail 3 After New Lenox Policeman Is Attacked

Three men were held in the Will county jail over the New Year's holiday as a result of an attack on a New Lenox policeman early last Saturday morning. An 18-year-old girl, Floy White, of Rochelle, who was arrested with the trio, obtained her release on bonds posted by her mother Sunday.

The three men involved in the case are, Harold George, 26, charged with assault; Delbert Thomas, 21, charged with three traffic violations, and Everett Stuckey, 60, charged with disorderly conduct. George and Thomas are from Rochelle, according to the report, while Stuckey claims West Jefferson, O., as his place of residence. According to the charge filed by Police Officer James Luther, George attacked him from behind, striking him over the head with a coke bottle as the policeman sat in the office of Police Magistrate Ronald Whitaker writing out a ticket for Thomas.

In the battle that followed George gained possession of Luther's blackjack. With that the officer pulled his pistol and regained control of the situation.

The magistrate came in at this juncture and at Luther's request called New Lenox Police Chief George Kennedy and state police for aid. Assistance was needed, according to the report, because the three men in custody became somewhat belligerent when they were loaded into a car and taken to the county jail. State Troopers Ferbend and Greenwood assisted.

In the report of the incident Luther said he was parked at Cedar and Lincoln highway around 4:30 Saturday morning when he saw a car coming along the highway. There were no license plates on the vehicle and Luther curbed it.

The driver, Delbert Thomas, smelled of alcohol, Luther said. Asked if he had been drinking Thomas said he had had a drink and turned over to the officer an open bottle of whiskey, the report states.

Luther told Thomas to follow him to the magistrate's office and as he sat there making out a ticket in came George and demanded to see the charged, the officer said. Luther was charging Thomas with illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor and operating a car without a driver's license or registration plates.

George insisted that he was the one who had been doing the drinking and demanded to see the ticket, the report states. Luther told George to sit down and said he paid no attention when the man walked behind him.

The next instant, Luther said he was reeling from a blow on the head. Later he discovered that George had hit him with a coke bottle, the officer stated.

When he had recovered somewhat Luther grappled with George and finally succeeded in drawing his blackjack only to have his adversary tear it from him. Luther then pulled his pistol. George dropped the blackjack and obeyed the order to face a wall with his arms spread against it over his head.

George stood like that for a few minutes and then dropped his hands, telling Luther to go ahead and shoot if he wanted to.

It was then that Magistrate Whitaker came in and aid was summoned. All the offices in the courthouse were closed for the holiday, including the state's attorney's office, so no action was to have been taken until yesterday. Bond was set for all three men but they were unable to post it.

Direct Dialing Effective In Area Beginning Feb. 11

Direct distance dialing service and a new telephone numbering system will become effective in Frankfort, Mokena and New Lenox on Feb. 17. At that time, telephone customers in the three communities will receive seven-figure numbers and will dial all seven figures for local calls. They will be able to dial most of their long distance calls, also.

"The time of the changeover will be 1:00 a.m.," said Illinois Bell Manager Don Memler. "That's when we have the fewest number of calls taking place."

The new seven-figure numbering system replaces the present two-letter, five-figure system currently in use in New Lenox, and the four-figure system in Frankfort and Mokena. Memler said that the change is easy to remember since the "hu" is merely being changed to its numerical equivalent "48" in New Lenox numbers, and the prefix "469" for Frankfort and "479" for Mokena is being added to the present numbers.

Mrs. Fran Hinelein, dial service chief, said that, starting Feb. 17, customers will be able to dial station-to-station long distance calls direct from their own phones to more than 77 million telephones throughout the United States. "It's really easy to dial long distance calls," she said, adding that complete instructions on how to make a DDD call are contained in a "Handy Dialing Guide" to be mailed to each customer prior to Feb. 17, and in the information pages of the new telephone directory.

As a further result of the change, telephone users in distant communities throughout the United States will be able to dial Frankfort, Mokena and New Lenox telephones starting Feb. 17.

What makes all this possible? "It's a combination of things," says Memler. "It's people, equipment and lots of planning."

"A system has been engineered which gives everybody an individual national phone number. This consists of a three-figure area code and a seven-figure phone number," said Memler. "The three-figure area code tells the telephone system what part of the country you live in. The next three figures designate your particular telephone office, and the last four figures pinpoint your particular telephone."

"With Cuba so much in the news now," said program chairman Maj. George Rumbley, an army chaplain, "we are fortunate to have a speaker who can give us a first hand picture of what is going on there."

The Arch Inn will be closed at the time of the regular February meeting so that has been cancelled. In its place the Mokena Lions plan a special event.

Stroke Fatal To J.E. Blaha; Rites Dec. 31

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Prudential insurance agent Joseph E. Blaha, of New Lenox, who died suddenly last Friday afternoon, Dec. 28.

Mr. Blaha, who was 48 years old, had remarked to a friend on Thursday how well he was feeling. He was home Friday when he suddenly collapsed. He was rushed to Silver Cross hospital in the Baskerville ambulance and died there about 2:30. It was determined that he had had a stroke and a heart attack.

He was a native of Cicero and attended Morton high school. In World War II he served in the army and saw service in the Pacific and the European theaters. It was while he was in the fighting in Germany that he was wounded.

Mr. Blaha had been a resident of New Lenox since 1959 and was a member of the Methodist church there.

Besides his wife, the former Betty Leonard, Mr. Blaha is survived by a daughter, Joy Ellen, a son, Richard of New Lenox; his parents, Joseph and Mildred Blaha, of Cicero, and a brother, Richard of Rockford.

The funeral services were held from the Baskerville chapel at Lincoln highway and Roberts street with the Rev. Alfred H. Hunter officiating. Interment was in Maplewood cemetery.

Mokena Grade Board Will Operate Own School Bus

The Mokena public schools are to have bus service for the approximately 150 pupils who now ride to school by automobile. It is either too far for them to walk or walking is too hazardous, the board of education decided at a recent meeting and so agreed to establish a bus system.

Three bids were obtained and Swanberg Implement Co. was low with a figure of around $6,000. The board says its studies show it cheaper to own a bus than to lease one.

Supt. James Ennis said it would probably be in February before the bus is delivered and is in use. Using a bus is also expected to end what is becoming a serious traffic problem at Willowcrest school. There is but one street leading up to the school and when it becomes jammed with cars there is really a jam, it was pointed out. The streets around Carpenter school are also filled at rush hours when children are being brought to school or picked up to go home.

In a study of the problem by the board it was agreed that safety for the children was the prime factor rather than saving them a walk. Traffic is growing increasingly heavy and there are few sidewalks, it was pointed out.

"Modern school systems have many needs for good transportation, for both curricular and extra-curricular activities," Supt. Ennis said. Pupils go on educational field trips, band and chorus festivals and contests, flag football, volleyball, basketball, wrestling or track meets. At present time a bus is rented or parents and teachers drive automobiles to these various activities. Statistics show children are safer in a school bus than in private automobiles."

The cost of operating the bus will be borne by the parents.

The school board is advancing the money for the purchase of the bus but expects to be repaid out of receipts. State aid can be collected only on pupils living more than a mile and a half from school and there are so few of them that the returns from the state would be negligible, it was said. The board will levy a transportation tax, which amounts to two cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation but the remainder of the money needed will have to come directly from the parents.

It is decided that a fee of $4 a month for a pass payable in advance, will be charged each one-child family, which would be 20 cents a day. Families with two children will pay $5 a month or 25 cents a day. Where there are three or more children in a family the cost will be $6 per month, or 30 cents a day. And the rule will be--no pass no ride.

"This plan," said Supt. Ennis, "seems to be the most sensible way to finance a bus system at the present time. Before approving a bus system the board conducted a survey, asking for parental support. The response was three to one in approval."

"The board has stated, however, that the system must pay for itself. Should the time ever come when private financial support will not finance the system, it would be discontinued. By the same token every avenue will be pursued to reduce the cost of rides."

School authorities also wished to remind parents that with winter here it is sometimes necessary to discontinue classes for a day or more. Should it be necessary to close the school on short notice announcements from that effect heard over radio stations WJOL or WGN may be considered official, Supt. Ennis said.

Annual Tree Burning At Mokena Is Set For Jan. 6

The annual tree burning that marks Twelfth Night in Mokena will be staged this year under the direction of Jerry Nelson.

The date, of course, will be Jan. 6, and all the discarded Christmas trees in the village will be picked up and carted to Community park for a bonfire that night.

Cub Scouts will call on residents that morning and ask them to have their trees in front of their homes so they can be picked up. Nelson is asking for some volunteer aides. His phone is 5269.

The Lions club of Mokena has been sponsoring this tree burning for many years and residents have found it a safe and easy way to get rid of their Christmas trees.

Last year, because of weather conditions, the actual burning was delayed.

Nelson reported that the Mokena Lions had supplied the two public schools and St. Mary's with Christmas trees, as usual. Six Christmas baskets were delivered to needy families.

Some Of Our Hopes For 1963

Happy New Year everyone. Most of the economists and those who keep a professional finger on the nation's financial pulse expect 1963 to be a good year for business.

The cold war still goes on but the general feeling appears to be that it will not become a hot one. It is not expected that 1963 will see peace in all quarters of the globe but then what year has witnessed such a condition.

It is easy to blame leaders of governments for wars and to exonerate the people of all blame or desire for strife--it's easy but it's not right. All of us have a responsibility for keeping the peace. And it can start at the grass roots, so to speak.

If we could learn to live by the golden rule and so live that we are at peace in our homes, in our communities, and banish greed, injustice and misuse of power in our daily lives then there would be peace in the world, real peace that the most war-minded of leaders could not break. As a matter of fact if the peoples of the world lived together in peace there wouldn't be any war minded leaders.. they would be eliminated.

There are several things we would like to see accomplished in 1963. For one thing we would like to see work begin on the actual construction of that partition of Federal Aid Interstate highway 80 that will connect the eastern end at Hazelcrest to Joliet, or at least to access to that community.

If this eastern link can be completed the balanced growth of this area can be expected. Too long a delay, however, may see business, commerce and industry pass us by and leave us holding the sack as bedroom communities.

Money is budgeted for 1963 for a bridge at Joliet and some grade separation bridges in the vicinity of Hazel Crest but that bridge at Joliet will take a long time building. It is expected it will be several years before the Joliet bridge and the route thru that city is ready and if we are required to fold our hands and wait until that work is done before this eastern link is built then it will be too late, according to experts in community growth and planning. If we can be assured that FAI 80 between Joliet and Hazel Crest will be ready by 1965 we will be all right, the experts say. Thru the use of toll roads FAI 80 extends from the eastern seaboard and the New England states to Hazel Crest. Eventually it will least the east coast with the west coast.

We would also like to see at least two-thirds of the state legislatures adopt identical resolutions asking that congress call a convention for the purpose of amending the federal constitution. Three have been suggested by the national legislative conference committee on federal-state relations in its report to the General Assembly of State Government which met at Chicago on Dec. 6.

State Representative Warren Wood, of Plainfield, a member of the Illinois assembly from Will county, a former speaker of the Illinois house--and could be again at this session--has authored and directed this approach to halt the speeding trend to a bigger and bigger central government at the expense of the states and the rights of the public as spelled out in the federal constitution.

One of the suggested amendments is to simplify Article V relative to the initiation of proposed amendments by the states. Another would eliminate federal judicial authority over the apportionments of state legislatures and the third is an amendment to establish a "Court of the Union" with authority to review decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court relating to rights reserved to the states under the Constitution. The Court of the Union would be made up of the chief justices of all the state supreme courts. This court would review Supreme Court decisions upon the demand of the legislatures of five states, no two of which shall share any common boundary.

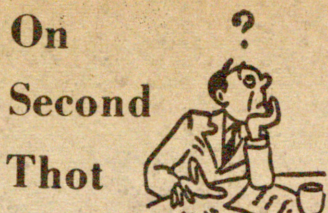

The Supreme Court has been deciding cases on text books rather than law books in some instances critics declare and at times has apparently forgotten there is such a thing as a constitution and has assumed legislative powers as well judicial. It is about time that some control be placed over the supreme court.

We would also like to see the state highway department install a flasher at 191st street and U.S. 45. A flasher and a 4-way stop at that intersection would make it much safer.

The 4-way stop and flasher is suggested as the fastest and cheapest means to protect motorists at this junction. Another solution would be to eliminate the rise in ground on the east side of 191st street, just west of U. S. 45 and the grade on U. S. 45 south of 191st. Persons traveling west on 191st street can't see traffic coming from the south until they are on the shoulder of 45. There have been some bad accidents at this intersection, including some fatal ones, and there should be some safeguards taken to prevent more.

We hope the new year will be good for you and yours.

As the Scotch say--Long may your chimney smoke.

By GLENN F. LOGAN

The White House, the Congress and the State Department are the three principal sources of spot news at Washington.

There are other sources, of course, and when you get down the scale in the lesser departments and bureaus where there is little news but a lot of competition in the battle to keep their interests -- in a favorable light, please--before the public.

Every government department, every government bureau, every government agency appears to have one thing in common--they all want funds and each seeks to justify its requests or demands for more money thru propaganda releases purporting to show how much work they do and how valuable such efforts are to the general public.

If one were to pick the busiest departments according to the news releases sent out to the press one would have to give the Department of Commerce and the Treasury place just below the armed services.

The treasury department has two tunes that it plays--buy bonds and pay your income tax. If the treasury could just come up with an answer as to where one can find the money to do both then it will have performed a miracle.

The Department of Commerce--or so it seems to us--gives one the impression that it is always working. Giving such an impression is something of a miracle in itself on the Washington scene.

When one stops to consider the situation one must really put the Department of Commerce among the elite in the space race--and when we say space here we mean publicity space--because two of its bureaus, the weather and the census.

The Department of Commerce must be heaven for statisticians. The department is always collecting figures about something, including trade. Surprising as it may seem the Department of Commerce does have something to do with that and it keeps consultants--or at least their clerks--busy filing data concerning yogurt, indigo, rice etc., and how many yo-yos the Iron Curtain countries are producing in an effort to compete for world trade with the Western nations.

The weather bureau, of course, is concerned with statistics regarding things meteorological, while the Census Bureau covers practically anything and everything.

Keeping a head count on the population of the U. S. of A. and its territories is just one of a multitude of like tasks. Not a week goes by but that a release comes from the commerce department requesting that the citizens be informed that another survey is underway.

If anyone wants to know whether people wash their faces or their teeth first after arising--or neither, all he has to do is write the commerce department. If it doesn't have the data at hand no doubt it would be pleased to run off a survey for you.

It has a survey going all the time. Not a week passes but a release comes in asking that the public be informed that the census bureau has people in the area collecting data, and some of it concerns the damndest things.

It wouldn't surprise us if the people who serve as marriage counselors, family guidance experts or experts on other social problems, are regular subscribers of the census bureau. The bureau sees all, knows all, it can not only tell you how many bathtubs there are in any given town or area but it can also tell you how many persons make use of them, the amount of soap they use and the brands favored. The bureau is thoroughly conversant with the eating habits of the various localities, the amount spent for groceries; the amount spent on booze, horsecollars, rubber boots and lingerie.

We can visualize the Department of Commerce as a place full of eager beavers with calculating machines, rushing hither and thither in quest of a mess of information. We can visualize the state department as filled with those handsome fellows in striped pants, that pose for the whiskey and shirt ads, in their off hours and the defense department overrun by admirals and generals.

And from the neglect shown the American Indians we see the Bureau of Indian Affairs as a huge place with thousands of empty desks awaiting the appearance of non-working payrollers but with a sign on the door--"Went to lunch in 1856--will be back soon."

Business & Finance

MAURICE P. ANGLAND

We are entering 1963 with expectations of good business activity during the year and well into 1964.

As has been previously noted, the manner in which Russian military buildup in Cuba was handled has made an important impact on the world. This, in turn, is seemingly a turning point in our military strengths acceptance by much of the world.

Expansion and contraction of Russia's various modes of attack on the western world, has been very expensive. It is expected that our military strength will now be kept at a fairly high level. Various degrees of meeting Russian challenges, was known to be expensive, but there seemed no method of settling this situation short of war. The Cuban situation demanded strong action immediately and in doing so, we found Russia less willing to meet the show down.

Many of our analysts believe that the Cuban handling will prove to have been a turning point in the position of the western world and its stability.

Fortune's year end prediction of business for the next 18 months is that we may be leaving an era of a cyclical economy and entering a growth economy. They express belief that this long upward swing was only slowed by the disappointments of last spring and summer.

The annual business survey of this magazine is well known to analysts in the investment field. They express the idea:

"An upswing is now over due in apparel, home goods and other consumer lines. Space, defense, and public works activity is on the rise, and so is investment in trade, services, and now increasingly over the longer run in the energy group of industries."

Oil and coal firms obviously are energy industries. Some analysts are pointing out that use of atomic energy is not nearly as far away as it was thought to be, just a couple of years ago. The test plants which were built for generation of electricity, are proving to be a fertile field in efforts to reduce costs of atomic generation of power. Generating energy with atomic aid is not a current problem, but very interesting to watch.

To get back to the Fortune survey, the article states that half of the 200 leading manufacturer's surveyed in early summer, are now increasing their projected 1963 budgets as to capital investments and have done so in recent weeks.

This magazine was almost alone in insisting that the fact that there had been no real period of capital goods replacement since 1955 and 1956, means there has been an increasingly compelling need for such investment in new plant and equipment. This insistence on the increase in capital spending is now being confirmed by other analysts.

Inventory positions have largely been considerably reduced and it is predicted that inventory buying is inevitable in view of sales increases in 1962.

In addition to inventories, the graphs of business activity, portray substantial increases in consumer goods, about $6 billion increase in defense spending, a rejuvenation of the home building field and substantial increase in consumer goods. The consumer goods and service industries are expected to reflect the higher earnings of the populace.

Safety Pays- In Bonds On E. J. & E.

The Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway will award 400 U. S. Savings bonds, totalling $32,000 early next year to employees with perfect safety records, it was announced by Thomas D. Beven, president of the railway. In order to be eligible for the awards an employee must have completed 15 consecutive months of service, ending next March 31st, without a single lost-time injury.

The E.J.&E first gained nationwide attention in its drive against personal injuries on the job when it set up awards of new autos and television sets in 1950. The following year bonds were substituted in order to reward a greater number of employees. Since that time the railway has given away more than $80,000 in bonds to promote safety on its line, and this figure does not include the awards to be made in 1963.

L. C. Hahney, director of safety for the road feels that the program has accomplished much in injury prevention. "This year our railway received three national honors as a result of our safety performance in 1961", he said. He was referring to the National Safety Council's employee safety award; the council's public activities safety award, and the E. H. Harriman award for outstanding rail safety performance. In 1961 the 'J' had the lowest injury percentage of any Class I railroad in the United States.

The bonds, in denominations of $50 to $500, will be awarded at family theatre parties to be held by the 'J' at both Gary, Indiana and Joliet, division headquarters for the line.

More Interest In Your Interest A Money Saver

Few farmers have enough money of their own to operate an efficient-sized farm. C. B. Baker, University of Illinois agricultural economist, says that farmers must therefore rely on credit sources to obtain the needed capital.

But credit, like fire, can be a useful servant or a terrible master. Lack of careful planning has caused many problems in its use. On the other hand, wise use of credit allows a farmer to build up his income-earning capacity more quickly than is possible by using family savings.

In borrowing money the interest charge is actually the rent you pay for using the money. With some advance planning, you can cut this cost just as you do with other carefully made purchases. Many farmers are surprised to learn that a 6 percent interest rate can figure out to as much as 8 to 24 percent.

When you consider the use of credit, Baker recommends keeping these four points in mind:

1. Borrow to make money. But watch the interest charges, as they can amount to more than the added returns.
2. Compare the cost of retail credit from banks, production credit associations and other lenders.
3. Check the total credit charges as well as the stated interest charges. Count all charges as part of the total finance charges.
4. Be sure to read any document carefully before you sign it.

Gives Eggs and Poultry Outlook For Coming Year

BY L. H. SIMERL
U. of I. Ag. College
Extension Service

Most poultrymen had a fairly good year in 1962. For 1963 the outlook is about like this: eggs, not much change from the year before; turkeys, average prices 1 or 2 cents lower than in 1962; broilers, prices in the first quarter about 2 cents from last year.

This forecast is based on a recent report of the Poultry survey committee, which is made up of economists from private industry, the USDA and universities.

EGGS. The nation's laying flock is estimated to be 1 percent smaller than it was a year ago. And the average age of the hens is slightly older. Thus egg production will be no greater, and maybe slightly less, in the first three quarters of the year than in 1962.

Consumer demand for eggs holds about steady from year to year. The increase in population is offset by a diminishing desire for eggs.

Prices received by Illinois farmers for eggs may average about 27 cents a dozen in the first three quarters of 1963. The winter average may be around 29 cents, the spring average 26 cents and the summer price about 27 cents a dozen. Prices will vary widely over the state, being 5 to 10 cents higher in the north-eastern counties (near Chicago) than in the southeastern and the western counties.

BROILERS. Market supplies in prospect for the winter quarter are 12 to 15 percent larger than those of a year ago. About one-third of this increase can be offset by growing demand, but the remainder will depress prices.

Broiler hatchery supply flocks apparently are 5 to 10 percent smaller than they were a year ago. But this may not prevent an increase of up to 5 percent in the production of broilers for sale in the spring quarter.

Prices received for broilers by Illinois farmers seem likely to fluctuate around 14 cents most of the time in the first half of 1963.

TURKEYS The carryover of turkeys on January 1 is indicated to be smaller than the 263 million pounds carried over the year before, but larger than in any other year. Turkey economists look for farmers to increase production by at least 7 percent and maybe 10 percent or more. If the increase in production is only 7 to 10 percent, they figure that prices will be 1 to 2 cents lower next fall than they have been in recent months. This would mean an average price to Illinois producers of 21 to 22 cents a pound.

FEED COSTS Costs of feed may be 3 to 5 percent higher in 1963 than in 1962. Prices for corn and most high-protein feeds are up from last year, and farmers are feeding more of almost every kind of livestock and poultry than they were a year ago.

Cook Co. Board Studies Highway Needs In Suburbs

(CNS) Seven new proposals for south suburban county road improvements were submitted for study to the Cook county board of commissioners last week by the highway department. Included in the department's proposals are ten other south suburban projects which have previously been under consideration. Of the total of 56 projects proposed, 17 are to be located in south Cook County. The county wide non-expressway improvement program is to cost an estimated $47,521,000.

Of the new proposals, only one is slated for 1963 construction, Cottage Grove ave. south of Lincoln Highway, to the railroad tracks, near East Chicago Heights, is to be widened to four lanes with a median strip. According to the department, the widening has become necessary since the construction of the Ford Stamping plant, whose main entrance is on Cottage Grove Ave. The 20-foot pavement can no longer accommodate the increased traffic.

Other new improvement proposals slated for 1965 construction are:

Widening of 127th st. from Orchard st. to Kedzie ave., in the village of Alsip, to four lanes with a median strip and interchange channelization. Cost of the 1.71 mile program is $522,000.

Widening of Harlem ave. from Wabash ave. to Southwest Highway, near the village of Worth, to four lanes with a median strip. Cost of the .45 mile improvement is to be $138,000.

Widening of Western ave. from Lincoln Highway to Flossmoor road, near Chicago Heights, to two lanes with intersection channelization.

Construction of two lanes on 87th St. from Roberts road to Harlem ave., near the villages of Hickory Hills and Bridgeview. The mile of improvement is to cost $200,000.

Widening of 87th st. from Ridgeland ave. to Southwest Highway, near the village of Oak Lawn and Hometown, to four lanes with a median strip and intersection channelization. The three miles improvement is to cost $958,000.

Crawford ave., between 146th st. to .22 miles north of 127th st. is to be widened to four lanes with a median strip and intersection channelization. The 2.6 mile project, near the villages of Midlothian, Crestwood, and Robbins, would cost $819,000.

Project items previously under consideration for 1963 construction in south Cook County are:

Removal and reconstruction of four projects over the Calumet Sag channel; Western ave., Harlem ave., 104th ave., and Kedzie ave. According to the highway department, the work has become necessary since the widening of the channel by the federal government. Cost of replacement is to be born largely by the federal government, and amounts estimated for work will be largely reimbursed. Construction of new approaches to the new structure over the Cal Sag channel at Western Ave., in Blue Island, will cost $1,463,000. Demolition and reconstruction of the bridge over the channel at Harlem Ave., in Palos Heights, is to cost $900,000. Construction of a new bridge at 104th Ave. over the channel will cost $420,000. Demolition and reconstruction of the bridge at Kedzie Ave. over the channel is to cost $650,000.

Widening of Pulaski Road from 95th to 87th Sts. to four lanes with channelization is proposed to take care of increased traffic, which is estimated by the highway department to be 15,000 vehicles a day. The 1.38 mile project, near Hometown, Oak Lawn, and Evergreen Park, is to cost $700,000.

Lawndale ave. between Joliet Road and Ogden ave. is to be widened and reconstructed to four lanes, at a cost of $215,000. Demolition of an existing structure at Western ave. over the Cal Sag channel in Blue Island is to cost $32,000.

Sun Subject of January Lecture At Planetarium

The January lecture-demonstration at the Chicago Park District Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum will be "The Nearest Star, Our Sun," announced Robert L. Johnson, planetarium director.

The sun, explained Johnson, is a rather average star, but many of our present ideas concerning the nature of stars come from a study of the sun. The size, radiations, and surface activities of this object will be discussed. Motion pictures will supplement the program.

Lecture-demonstrations will be given at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Mondays thru Fridays; and at 12:30, 2 and 3:30 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. Evening shows will be given on Tuesdays and Fridays at 7:30 o'clock. A special program for children is scheduled on Saturday at 11 a.m.

Admission to the Museum building is free at all times but there is a 50¢ admission charge for adults and 25¢ charge for children to the Planetarium Chamber. Special school programs are presented without charge.

Cook Co. Forest Preserve Now Provides Ice Fishing

Eight Forest Preserve lakes have been opened to ice fishing this winter. The announcement was made by Seymour Simon, president of the board of forest preserve commissioners, and he stated that "there is a greater interest in ice fishing in recent years than ever before. It was with this in mind that the lakes are being opened to this popular winter sport."

"The location of the lakes throughout the county is such that everyone will have good opportunity to reach one or more fishing sites with just a short distance of travel. All of them have been stocked with largemouth bass and bluegills for several years and are now ready for public fishing. Some of the lakes have never been open to fishing up to this time and should provide good catches."

President Simon warned that there is always need for caution when ice fishing. This is particularly true when good catches are being made and the fishermen have a tendency to crowd into a small area where there is exceptional fishing. Such overcrowding can be dangerous, particularly toward spring when there has been thaws and the ice has been weakened.

The most productive and most favorable of the ice fishing sites, Saganashkee Slough, is open again this year. The necessary repair work has been completed.

Listed below are the forest preserve lakes and locations now open to ice fishing:

Belly Deep Slough, On Route 45, 1/2 mile south of 95th St., Big Bend Lake, Southwest corner of Golf and Bender Roads.

Joe's Pond, Willow Springs Road, 1 mile south of 95th St.

Saganashkee Slough, Southwest corner of 107th St. & Willow Springs Rd.

McGinnis Slough (east end only), West of Route 45, north of Southwest Highway.

Papoose Lake, South side of McCarthy Rd. (123rd St.) 1/4 mile west of Route 45.

Bullfrog Lake, 2 miles southwest of Willow Springs, 1/2 mile south of 95th St., 1/4 mile west of Wold Road.

Wampum Lake, 1 mile east of Thornton, north of Thornton-Lansing Road.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZZELL
ASSOC. FARM ADVISER

The official flower for the month of January is the delicate and graceful carnation. The carnation as we know it today is the result of centuries of breeding and selection. It is a native of southern Europe. The name carnation seems to be derived from coronation or coronation flower since their blooms were used in great abundance at coronations of English Kings and Queens. Carnations have been used for hundreds of years for decorations. It was not until the 16th century that they came into general use and hybridization of the species began.

The large, double, perpetual flowering carnations you get from your florist originated by the French botanist, Dalmals, about 1840 and were introduced into the U. S. about 15 years later. Since that time, intensive hybridization and selection in this country has produced many excellent varieties and strains.

Since carnations are true hybrids, each variety has arisen from a single seed. In order to increase the number of plants of a variety it is necessary to use cuttings or slips. Occasionally, a plant will mutate and produce a flower of a different color, larger size, or an exceptionally strong plant. Greenhouse men are always watching for these mutations or as they call them, sports. When a sport occurs, the florist saves the plant and takes cuttings. The new mutation then becomes known as a selection and is sent to universities and experiment stations to be tested. If it is superior to varieties being grown, it is propagated and sent to commercial greenhouses where it replaces older varieties.

The two most common varieties grown in America today are the Littlefields, which all originated from a salmon-colored variety, Sidney Littlefield; and the Sims which originated from a bright red, William Sim.

Through selection of sports from these two original seedlings, have come a multitude of colors ranging from white and pink through reds and salmons, and even yellow and orange color varieties. Each selection carries in its name an indication of which variety it originally came from. Examples are Tangerine Sim and light pink Littlefields. Littlefield carnations are exceptionally well adapted to growing conditions around Chicago. The Chicago produced Littlefield are known throughout the country for their strong stems, large size, and bright color.

The most recent development in carnations is the miniature spray type. These varieties have several small flowers on a single stem, much like pom-pom chrysanthemums. Stop at your local florist, he can show you samples of all the varieties. Groups interested in learning more about carnations can secure a free film showing the production of these lovely flowers. Contact our Extension office at 201 N. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights or 6657 South Street, Tinley Park, for more information.

"I'LL BE BACK" was the farewell of Marijke Van Den Nouwland, exchange student from Belgium when she left Lincoln-Way high school at term's end last June. The University of Illinois has offered Marijke a scholarship of which she plans to make use. But first she had to return to her people and is going to school in Europe this winter.

Marijke lost a foot in an automobile accident last February. She was being brought to Lincoln-Way to make a trip with the debating team. The morning was thick with fog and the road icy. The car slid into a moving freight train that the driver couldn't see until too late. That Marijke survived at all was little short of a miracle. She lost a lot of blood but not a drop of courage and her laugh and smile made her a favorite patient at Silver Cross hospital where she spent months in recovering from her injuries. The story of her plight and pluck brought her hundreds of letters and contributions to aid her in her future educational plans. Some $10,000 was put into an account for her. Now she has an artificial foot that she manages with marvelous dexterity. Marijke wants to be a physician.

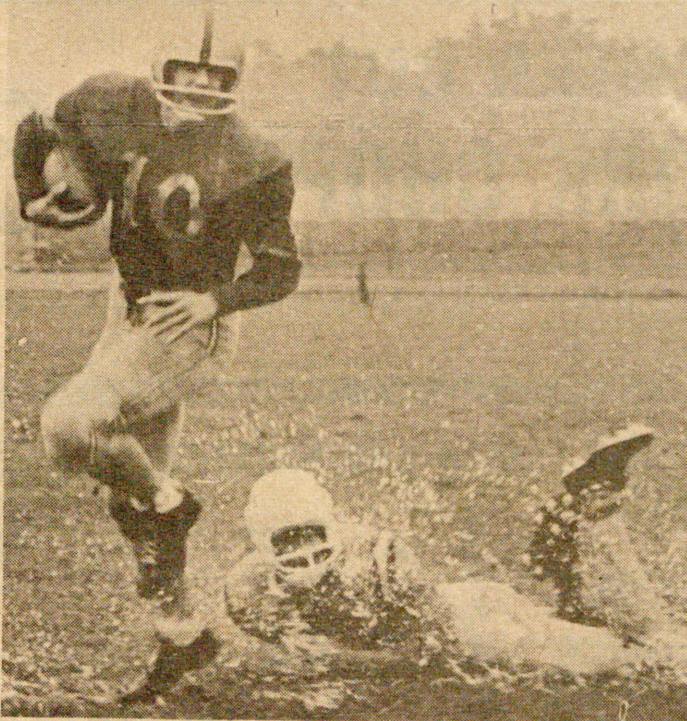

NEW BUILDINGS completed in the area in the past year included two post offices and a school addition. One can see from the inscription that the top photo is the new post office at New Lenox. Below it is the Frankfort post office. The government doesn't build post offices now. It tells how they shall be built and supplies the plans. The site and the cost of construction is borne by an individual or firm who in turn lease the building to the post office department. The bottom photo shows the addition to the Frankfort school which was finished in time so it could be used this fall. The new addition contains four classrooms and a multi-purpose room. The old building was partially remodeled so there is more space for the administrative staff and the sanitary facilities for the plant were expanded.

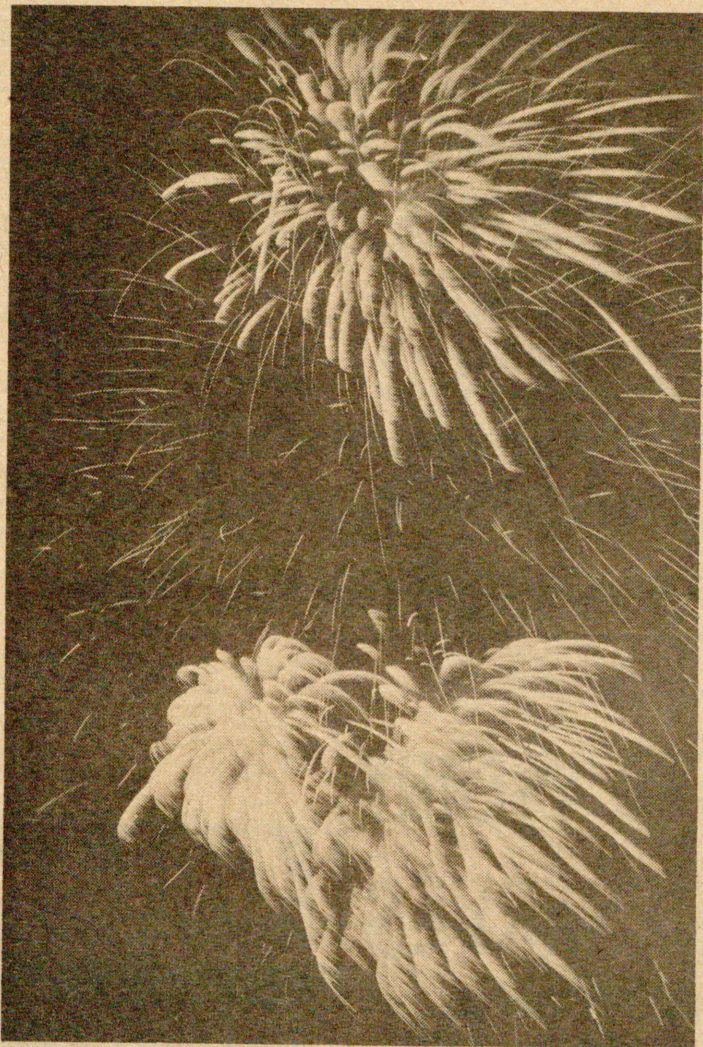

Pictorial Review Of 1962

F. BERLE NEEDHAM, of Mokena, was elected general auditor of the Rock Island railroad by the directors of that road last May. Mr. Needham is active in community affairs at Mokena and is an officer in the Methodist church. He is also a former village trustee and former chairman of the Mokena planning commission. He began his career with the Rock Island as an extra clerk in the master mechanic's office at Herrington, Kans., in 1919.

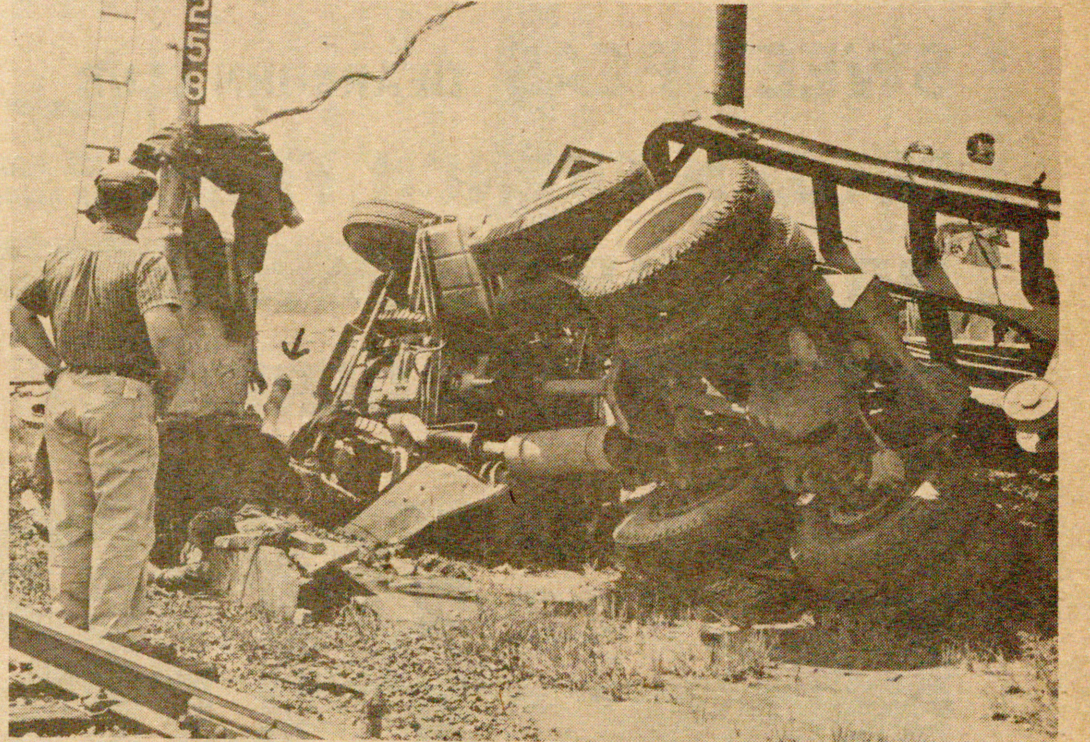

FRUSTRATION --Here's a lad that made a big splash at a football game and what did it get him? Mud in his eye, that's what. Had his cleats held until he managed to wrap his arms around that chap with the ball it would have made still a greater splash with the two of them going down. The picture was taken at a Carl Sandburg--Bremen high school game last fall on a rainy day. The moral of this, if any, is don't save your tackles for a rainy day.

FIRE IN THE SKY, a not unusual occurrence in these space age days but there is no need to be afraid of the type pictured here. These displays, that look like chrysanthemums might if their petals were made of fire, are a part of the fireworks exhibition staged by the Orland Park American Legion post last Fourth of July. Pretty things, aren't they?

SELDOM SEEN anymore are corn shocks such as those seen here on the Edwin Yunker farm near Mokena. Farming is pretty much mechanized these days between corn pickers and silage choppers there is no need to shock corn, except for some special use and that is what Yunker did with a small segment of his crop. The day will come when corn shocks will only be a memory, except for pictures and party decorations.

A DEAD HEAT between a Wabash train and a semi-trailer on 159th Street in Orland township last May resulted in the death of the truck driver. One can see from the picture that the truck was a total wreck and there was a big hole in the front of the locomotive.

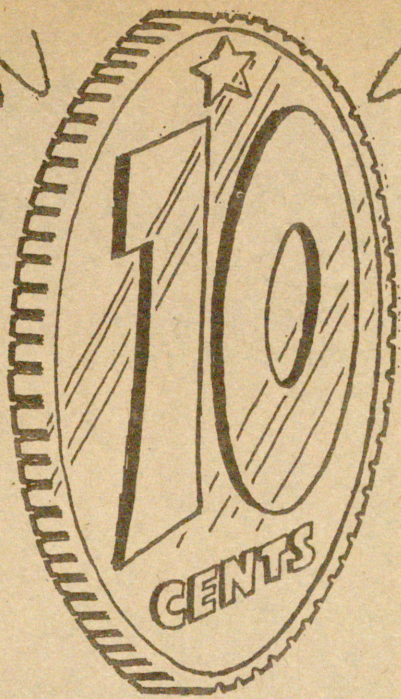

WABASH RAILROAD installs warning signals to protect the Francis road crossing between New Lenox and Mokena. Four persons were killed on this crossing in a little over a year and these tragedies produced action that finally resulted in the ICC ordering safety devices for the crossing. State, county and New Lenox township put up the money; the railroad supplied the engineering and the labor of installation. The signals were installed last June. The man in the picture is A. Hunter Chapman, superintendent of Lincoln-Way high school. He was one of those active in pushing for protection of the crossing. One of the persons killed there was a high school student.

COOK COUNTY 4-H'ERS held their annual plowing contest last summer near Orland Park. Gary Andresen, 13, of Orland Park was the winner. In this picture (center) is Leslie Yunker who was chosen as king of the annual South Cook County 4-H fair. Leslie was awaiting his turn to compete for plowing honors when this picture was taken.

IN addition to seeing the most modern financial facilities in the community, your visit will introduce you to our Savings Counsellors, to our Mortgage Counsellors, and to the wide range of services that are available to our customers.

Financial Federal Savings was chartered in 1924 and has a 38 year record of safe, profitable and continuous service. Changes in the metropolitan area and increasing suburban business volume required us to decide on a location for our new building.

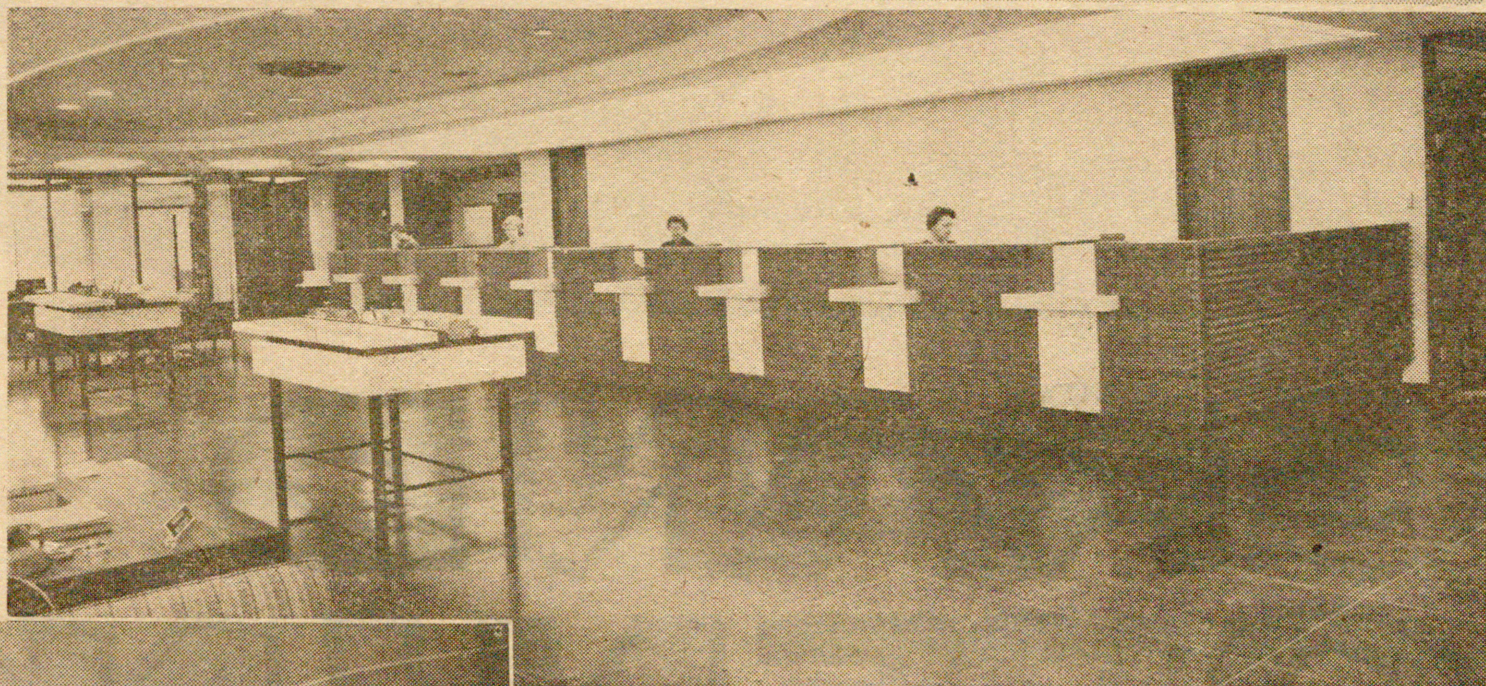

Our new modern office building located at Western Avenue and Lincoln Highway (U. S. 30) is our vote of confidence and faith in the surrounding community. We know that our choice is a wise one and that the community that we serve is the finest.

Once again I extend an invitation to you and hope you will visit us during our Grand Opening so we can meet in person.

Frank W. Gasior
President

You receive dividends on your dividends, as well as on the money you deposit. So your savings earn more, grow faster.

$4\frac{1}{2}\%$

on Regular Accounts

Financial Federal's current dividend rate is $4\frac{1}{2}\%$ per annum, which is paid on all regular savings and investment accounts. 1963 is the fourth consecutive year in which our savers earned $4\frac{1}{2}\%$ on their funds.

$4\frac{3}{4}\%$

For the highest return possible in insured savings, Financial Federal Savings offers its bonus account, paying the maximum in current earning rates. For these accounts, which are deposited in multiples of \$1,000 our basic dividend of $4\frac{1}{2}\%$ per annum is paid quarterly. WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

A distinctive feature of Financial Federal's new building is a concrete sculptural frieze, extending the length of the facade. Our architect explained the meaning of the frieze in these words: "The sculpture depicts the relationship between the association and individual, that which encourages home ownership and thrift through sound investment of funds. It signifies dignity, strength, unity and understanding through progressive management of the institution."
